Other information:	Shelton started playing football at the age of 7, and it's been his passion ever since. He's a left footed football that can easy play on different positions. With his physical ability it's very easy for him to play on every level of the game. His pace makes it very hard for attackers to get past him, while it’s a greats strength when he goes forward. With his ball control and good passes he can create and dictate the game and give perfect final passes to attacker to go through 1 on 1 vs goalkeepers. But he's not only physically top but also mentally and tactically. He’s mentally so strong that he never panics or struggle in making tough decisions, while his tactical abilities gets him always on the right spot on the right time to create or avoid danger. Most people compare his game play like Jetro Willemstad from Psv Eindhoven and some even compare him as a young version of Alaba from Bayern Munich.
