Player profile:	Kwadwo Poku (born 1st December 1993) is a Ghanaian professional footballer. He is a midfielder who relies on exceptional creative passing, intuition and inventiveness to control the midfield and dictate the ebb and flow of play. He is also touted as a box-to-box midfielder for his ability to exert energy in supporting offensive and defensive play and can also play as a defender, both on the right of defence and in the centre. His former coach at Hearts of lions, Abubakr Yusif, has these to say about kwadwo "The one who plays this game the best is Kwadwo: he knows exactly when to go forward and when to drop back. He picks the right moment to do everything: when to dribble, when to speed things up and when to slow things down. And I think that's the only thing that can't be taught or bought. You can learn how to shoot and how to control the ball, but being aware of everything that's happening out on the pitch - that's something you're either born with or you're not".
